training. Forty girls have already been accepted for the next class but it was decided to hold the enrollment open due to the great need to bring more and more girls into the nursing profession. Miss Jorstad explained, pointing out that the recent Army plea for nurse recruits was bound to create vacancies all the way down through the professional ranks.

As for nursing education today Miss Jorstad said she believed that most colleges were following a trend to liberalize the curriculum placing the emphasis on flexibility and on making courses of more interest to the student nurse.

Easter Lily Blooms
In Garden Now

Mrs. Fred Brown was surprised this week when she discovered nine large Easter lily flowers blooming in the garden at her home on Willow street in New Lenox township. Mrs. Brown put the bulbs in the ground this spring after she had enjoyed their blossoms at Easter time and gave them no further attention. She attributes this out-of-season blooming to the cool rainy weather we have had this summer.

An Open Letter

TO THE ADVERTISERS AND SUBSCRIBERS OF
THE SEMMLER PAPERS:

This is perhaps one of the hardest letters to write that I have ever felt had to be written.

It concerns my having to say goodbye to the many old friends and new that I have made in the past two years during my association with the Semmler Newspapers as manager. But sometimes the word "goodbye" is unavoidable. Were it not for my health I could never leave you fine people, but there is nothing that can take away from me all your acts of friendship and pleasant business relations. . . . Yes, memories will always be mine to keep and with the hope that I will come in contact with all of you again.

To Mrs. Semmler, publisher of these newspapers, I can truthfully say that I have never had a more pleasant relation with an employer than I have with her. The sense of fairness shown by her is unsurpassed.

It is hard also to say goodbye to the many pleasant incidents that could only happen in what I consider "my home town." The Homecoming, and the "office boy" just to mention a few, plus many many more.

So I won't say Goodbye, but rather "au revoir" until I see you grand people again.

Signed,
Harland A. Merrell

TO OUR FRIEND
HARLAND A. MERRELL:

It is with deep regret and feeling of sadness that we have come to the parting of our ways as far as business is concerned.

Coming to us at a time when we were sorely in need of your help, you filled a niche which could only be filled by you; dependable, understanding and loyal beyond words. Yes, we too, have memories which will always remain with us, and we sincerely hope that when you and your family are again established in Florida you will all enjoy the rest of life.

We have missed you, this first week in the shop without you, but knowing it is for your best, we are plugging away and if it is meant for us not to meet again, we sincerely say,

God Bless You,
Margaret M. Semmler, Publisher

(Editor's Note: Donald Fratia is taking Mr. Merrell's place and we hope he will be accorded the same friendly reception as did Mr. Merrell.)

ORLAND MAN WRONGLY ACCUSED

Notorious Mob; Retractions Made Wed.

Excitement ran high in the Orland Park and Tinley Park areas Saturday after the Chicago Daily News ran a story in their September 2 issues identifying Lester "Killer Kane" Kruse with Lester A. Kruse, of Tinley Park, a man well known in those communities who has been active in school and civic affairs. A picture accompanying the story was that of the Tinley Park man.

The story as it appeared in the Chicago paper stated, "Another sleeper" to watch in the developing of the Chicago investigation before the Senate crime investigating committee in Washington, is Lester A. Kruse, alias "Killer Kane" another apparently important fellow to whom the Senate investigators want to talk.

"Kruse owns property at Touhey and Western avenue and also owns a flat building in Skokie. He has been described by Virgil W. Peterson, of the Chicago Crime commission, in testimony before the Senate committee as an officer of the Nu-Way Beer Co. company, 655 N. Kedzie avenue.

"Kruse's name has kept cropping up in the Senate inquiry, particularly in connection with the Pioneer News service, of St. Louis which the commission is seeking to connect with the Chicago mob. "William Brown, who with his mother owns 65% of the stock of the Pioneer News, which distributes news to bookies in the St. Louis area, has testified that he acquired some of his holdings from Kruse. "Other testimony has been offered the committee to the effect that Kruse, William Molasky of St. Louis, the late Moe Annenberg and the late James M. Ragen in 1932 paid $100,000 for one half interest in Pioneer News."

YUNKER IMPLEMENT STORE NEAR
ORLAND RANSACKED SAT. A. M.Chicago Youth Caught In Midst Of Wreckage; Damages Set at $2,500

A burglary and crime spree of unusual features occurred at the Yunker Implement company, 159th street, Orland Park early Saturday morning.

When Donald Yunker, brother of Erwin Yunker, proprietor of the implement company, was passing the business place about seven o'clock Saturday morning, he noticed the plate glass window and door broken. He at once stopped and entered the building and to his surprise saw a man lying on the floor in a pool of grease and oil and the place all upset and out of order. He called his brother and the state police, who arrived in a few minutes.

The man started to get up and inches or more. In going forward the manure loader in front of the tractor rammed into everything in its path, breaking a corn pulverizer, tipping over a hammermill, rammed into a model G tractor, breaking into 10 five gallon containers of oil and grease, splattering it over machinery, walls and floor.

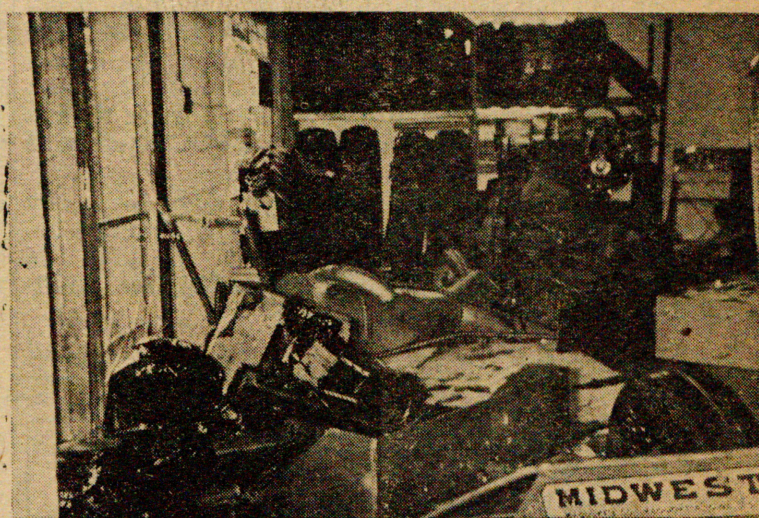

The building, which is made of concrete blocks, was nitched with holes where the tractor ran into it. It was thought that perhaps the driver was intent on breaking out the wall. The plow behind the tractor caught onto an implement near by breaking parts on it. A farm wagon in the rear was shoved back hitting Mr. Yunker's new car and damaging the fenders. It is estimated the damage amounts to $2,500, partly covered by insurance.

Later in the day Clarence Mattison and his father returned to the place, his father having given the $4500 bail. The young man said he was sorry for what he had done and gave the reason that he had been in a taxi and was drunk at the time of the burglary. He stated he would pay for the damage he had done and that this was the first time.

Mr. Yunker also found in Mattison's car four tires, five tubes and many other tools that had been taken from the stock. These were of course recovered.

Tuesday, September 12 his trial will be held at the State police headquarters on Cicero avenue.

The building was built less than a year ago when Mr. Yunker started into the implement business.

stated that someone hit him. It is thought he was trying to leave the building, slipped on the grease and hit his head, knocking him out for a short time. He was taken by the police, accompanied by Erwin Yunker, to the State Police headquarters on Cicero avenue. He gave his name as Clarence Mattison, 26, of 11248 S. Troy, Chicago, where he lives with his father.

It was around four o'clock Saturday morning when young Mattison allegedly entered the implement store by breaking the glass in the door. The 300 watt night light was broken and the dishevelled man was unrecognizable. Starting the new Allis Chalmers tractor which was on display in the show room, evidence showed where he ran it in all directions in the small space, hitting the new oil burner furnace and counter, moving them both two

A reception will be held in the VFW hall immediately following the ceremony to which all friends and relatives are invited.

St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church of Menomonee Falls, Wis., was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday afternoon, September 2, when Miss Margaret Ruth Whitburn of that city and Richard Arthur Lambrecht of Frankfort spoke their vows in a double ring ceremony at three p.m.

Miss Whitburn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Whitburn, and Mr. Lambrecht is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lambrecht. The couple met while attending Elmhurst college, Elmhurst, Ill., and announced their engagement at the annual prom in May.

Pastor of the church, the Rev. H. A. Crusius, read the marriage lines and was assisted in the ceremony by the bridegroom's pastor, the Rev. Erich Bizer of St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church in Frankfort.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lambrecht candles were lighted by David and Joel Whitburn, young brothers of the bride. Just Three Minutes

Reader's Digest recently published a little item by Don Wharton called "It Could Happen Here," which said: "When a patient enters a certain doctor's office in North Carolina and sits down for a consultation, the physician unobtrusively reaches across his desk to a three-minute hourglass. Without saying a word, he turns it over and starts the sand running. The consultation proceeds as usual—not a word about the hourglass until the sand has run into the lower half. Then the doctor points at it and says: 'Three minutes. If we had socialized medicine your time would be up. In England today three minutes is all the time a doctor can give to the average call. Just three minutes.'"

Socialized medicine is mass-production medicine. Each doctor is given a panel of patients, and it is so large in number that it is impossible for him to take the time needed for careful diagnosis and treatment. The fact that the service is "free," leads many patients to call on the doctor whether they need attention or not, on the theory that they might as well get what is coming to them. So more time is unnecessarily consumed—and the patient who is really ill is given quick, inferior service.

Moreover, overworked doctors have no time for study and research. Their education becomes static. Practice becomes routine and mechanical. Preventive medicine is given less and less attention. And so, inevitably, the standards of health deteriorate.

Yes, it can happen here, if we don't keep on the alert and stop it.

Fall Pasture Fertilization Adds Grazing Days, Cuts Feed Costs and Boosts Profits

Top-dressing pastures with a complete fertilizer this fall means extra grazing days next spring.

TOP-DRESSING your pastures this fall with a complete fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphate and potash will give your beef and dairy cattle extra grazing days next spring, cut down your feed bill, boost meat and milk output and reduce production costs, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee. The fertilizer can be added any time this fall before freezing.

The committee cites these advantages of using a complete fertilizer:

- 1-The nitrogen in the fertilizer gives the legume-grass crop needed nourishment for fast early growth in spring before soil nitrogen itself is available and before the legume nodule bacteria begin to fix nitrogen in the soil.
- 2-A firm foundation of phosphate and potash is essential for higher crop yields. Nitrogen needs the support of these nutrients to do its best work; phosphate and potash cannot function without nitrogen. When the legume-grass crop provides earlier spring grazing, you need fewer days of barn feeding. This means a saving in the feed bill.

Spreading fertilizer in the fall spreads the work too. Farmers have more time for such work in fall than in spring, and the turf is more solid. Plant food added in fall has a chance to get down where the roots are, through freezing and thawing periods during winter. Nutrients are then available for the legume roots when spring growth starts.

You don't have to work the fertilizer into the soil. Grass roots close to the surface take up the soluble plant food. Farmers planning fall pasture improvement work can get advice from their county agents or state agronomists on the kind and amount of fertilizer to use. Tests show that applications of 300 to 600 pounds per acre produce profitable results.

Valuable Man

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

THE DOOR MARKED "Private" opened and a girl appeared. "Come in please, Mr. Jeffrey," she said.

Tully dropped the magazine he had been reading onto the reception room table, rose, buttoned the coat of his double-breasted suit, straightened his tie and stepped past the girl. "Mr. Gunner," said the girl, "has an appointment this morning. He asked our Mr. Jacobs to talk to you."

A rage seized Tully, and a determination. He thought: "To hell with Gunner and his job! I'm going back to Boston. But first I'm going in there and tell that yes-man what I figure I'm worth. Maybe what I figure I'm worth."

The yes-man was a typical, efficient yes-man, small, bespectacled and used to handling unpleasant duties for Mr. Gunner.

"Sit down, sit down, Jeffrey," he said. "We understand you have a letter. You're seeking employment. Mr. Gunner is very sorry to have to advise that at the moment there's nothing. Not a thing."

"Good," said Tully. "I decided not to take the job anyway. I decided you can't pay what I'm worth."

"Really?" said Mr. Jacobs, arching his brow. "And that is?"

"Two hundred and seventy-five dollars a week!" said Tully. He rose. "Good day, Mr. Jacobs. Give my uncle's regards to Mr. Gunner."

Mr. Jacobs sat at his desk with pursed lips and stared thoughtfully at the door that Tully had not slammed but closed with a determined firmness. Presently he rose and invaded the privacy of portly Mr. Gunner.

Briefly Mr. Jacobs outlined what was in his mind.

"Asking $275, eh? Said he didn't want our job? Probably offered a better job by Erwin and Company. Called here to pay the respects of his uncle, Humm. Treated him rather shoddy, didn't we, Jacobs? Must be a good man. We need good men. Get hold of him Jacobs."

Mr. Jacobs tried Tully's hotel. There was a wait, then the clerk told him Mr. Jeffrey didn't wish to talk to any representative of Gunner, Inc.

MR. JACOBS went back to the office. Three times that afternoon he called Tully's hotel, but without success. He reported to Mr. Gunner. Mr. Gunner grew thoughtful.

"Jacobs, this youngster is probably the very man we've been looking for. Young, fresh viewpoint,

"Good," said Tully, "I decided not to take the job anyway."

new ideas. If he's worth $275 to Irwin or any one else, he's worth $300 to us. I'll handle it myself."

When Mr. Gunner decided to handle anything he went to town. This tenaciousness was responsible for the success of his present firm. Never give up when you think you have something good, was his motto. Thus it was that Tully, returning home late from the theater, found a middle-aged, portly, important looking man parked before his door.

"I'm August Gunner," the portly man said. "My man Jacobs—" "Told you I said you couldn't pay what I'm worth," Tully finished. "He was right. You can't. Good night, Mr. Gunner."

Uninvited, Mr. Gunner followed Tully inside the room. "I think," he said, "that your uncle rather expected you to go to work for us when you came to New York."

"Correct," said Tully. "So what?" "Your uncle is one of my dearest friends. We'll pay you $300 a week," Tully stared. A sneer curved his lips. Mr. Gunner, he thought, was kidding.

Suddenly Tully realized that Mr. Gunner wasn't kidding. He swallowed, but managed to keep his voice under control. "All right," he said. "I'll take it. For the sake of my uncle."

Outside in the corridor, Mr. Gunner mopped his forehead. What a break! The kid was probably worth twice that much. And this uncle of his. He'd have to remind Jacobs to find out the old boy's name, first thing in the morning.

Illinois Fertilizer Consumption Shows Big 10-Year Gain

ILLINOIS farmers used approximately 396,775 tons of fertilizer in growing their crops last year, according to a statement by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee based on statistics compiled by the National Fertilizer Association.

Fertilizer consumption in Illinois was more than nine times as great in 1949 as it was ten years ago. In 1939, only 40,756 tons of plant food were used on Illinois farms. Important in encouraging this upward trend has been the work of agronomists of the state agricultural college.

For the entire United States the 1949 fertilizer consumption totaled 16,579,000 tons. This was the highest record in history and exceeded the 1948 record by 623,000 tons. More than twice as much plant food was used in the United States last year as in 1939, when the total consumption was 7,707,000 tons.

The steadily increasing use of fertilizer on the nation's farms in the past 10 years is attributed to these factors: (1) Fertilizer has proved profitable in boosting crop yields per acre, cutting production costs and increasing net income. (2) Plant food gives a high return for every dollar invested. (3) Fertilizer is a "good buy" for farmers. Prices of fertilizer have remained very reasonable compared with prices of other commodities purchased by farmers and with prices received by farmers for their products.

What's The Hurry New Lenox Taxpayers?

If we vote to annex to Joliet Township High School now, our high school taxes will be more than doubled, immediately. Couldn't we save at least one year's high taxes by voting NO on this high school proposition next Saturday?

Seems that there are a lot of questions that should be answered and a lot of thinking that should be done before we vote to spend our money on a long term proposition like this.

1. We know that the high school tax rate will jump from .40 to .83 as soon as we annex to Joliet. Will someone please tell us what rate we will pay after Joliet's expansion program is complete?

2. At all the high school meetings to date, Joliet authorities have told us that we will get pupil transportation when, as, and if they are ready to give it. Aren't they ready to make any definite promises before we're in?

3. We know that, under the proposed annexation, we would turn over to Joliet about $80,000 per year in taxes. We also know that we would have a mighty small voice in how any of it would be spent.

4. We know that Joliet grade schools are in a desperate financial position. The Joliet Association of Commerce is recommending that these grade schools be consolidated with the high school, forming a unit district. How would that affect us, if we were in?

5. We know that there are alternate solutions to the high school problem, some of which might serve us better if we had time to think them through. For instance, we could have a community high school of our own at a cost no greater than sending our children to Joliet (the Joliet High School folks told us so). Such a school, located in our midst, might provide educational, social, and recreational facilities for our whole community in a manner that a school in Joliet would never do.

6. We know that an honest, capable, and unselfish committee, appointed by the school directors of the township, has been studying the high school problem in a non-partisan manner. They have been consulting authorities in the field of education and will prepare an unbiased report on the possibilities of high school education in this area. After we read and consider their report, there will be plenty of time to vote for annexation to Joliet, if we decide that is best.

7. Maybe we're being railroaded?

Quitter Makes Good

Lesson for September 10, 1950

UNLESS THAT boarding house in Antioch was different from other boarding houses, you could hardly have a private quarrel in it. There would be some inquisitive people who would notice when voices were raised, and who could not resist the temptation to listen.

One of the quarrelers was none other than the famous Apostle Paul, and the other was his best friend Barnabas. At least, Paul and Barnabas had been good friends up to that day.

Dr. Foreman

After that day's argument we do not know that they ever saw each other again. Paul never mentioned the incident, but the story got around, and Luke put it into his book of Acts.

Young Man Seeks Position

THE ARGUMENT was all about a young man named John Mark. Young people do not always realize how often they are discussed by their elders, or how much those discussions affect their lives. A young man applies for a job (which he would rather call a "position") and he either gets the job or he does not. But he never sees the files. He never hears the conversations about himself. He never knows just what remark got him the job—or cost him the job, as the case may be. So John Mark may never have known just what Paul and Barnabas said about him.

The facts were plain. John Mark was a native of Jerusalem, son of a woman at least well-off enough to have a large house of her own. He was some relative of Barnabas, perhaps a nephew. (Tradition says he was the young man in embarrassing circumstances described in Mark 14:51-52.) When Paul and Barnabas set off on their first missionary journey together, this John Mark went with them as a general assistant.

All went well at first. But when the party landed on the hot steamy shore of Pamphylia, and when the missionary expedition was about to take off over the high lonesome ranges through bandit country, John Mark left the party and took the first boat back to home and mother.

Two Bosses

WE HAVE no idea why he went. Maybe he had good reasons, maybe not. Anyway, we do know that he quit. And that was all Paul wanted to know. A new missionary party was being made up, and Barnabas wanted to take his young relative along again. But Paul could not see it.

Why take a man who had already fallen down on one job? Why take an assistant that could not be depended upon? The argument between Mark's two bosses boiled down to this: Paul judged their assistant on past performance. It was all he had to go by. Barnabas judged Mark by his love for him and his belief in him. The quarrel was sharp, and the two old friends could not agree. Finally the incredible happened: Paul and Barnabas parted company, and each went his separate way from that time forward.

What happened to Barnabas we do not know. But we do know that Barnabas was right about John Mark. Years later we read in more than one letter from Paul that Mark was a real help to him. We find that another great leader, Simon Peter, called Mark his "son." These leaders of the Christian church, though they might differ on some things, agreed about Mark, that he was a man to rely on.

What This Goes to Show

ALL THIS GOES to show several things. For one, it is clear that even an Apostle may be wrong. No man can be an infallible judge of another man. And another thing: You can't judge a man on his record alone. There may be more in the man than the record shows.

On the other hand, people do judge others by their records. The dubious young man does not always have a relative who will give him the benefit of the doubt.

If your record is bad, you must realize that there are numbers of people, even good people, who will judge you by that alone.

Squint's Drumming For Fair Play!

Squint Miller's mighty proud of the lot he owns that fronts on River Road—one of the prettiest spots around here.

He's been in a stew about it lately, though. Seems that trash-dumpers take one look at his property, stop their car or truck, and out goes a load of rubbish, spilling all over his place and the roadside, too. Wouldn't that make you mad?

Last night Squint dropped by the house. Over a friendly glass of beer, he tells me what he's done. "I put a couple of empty oil drums out there," he says, "with a big sign reading: 'If you must dump trash—use these—I like to keep my property clean!'"

From where I sit, Squint's sign should make any would-be roadside trash-dumpers pretty darned ashamed of themselves. Now and then some folks just have to be reminded that they ought to have as much regard for their neighbors' rights as they do for their own.

JOHN DEERE Truss-Frame Design means Rugged Strength with Extra Clearance!

Rugged strength and ample clearance—two plow essentials for fast, deep plowing—behind today's more powerful tractors—are two outstanding advantages of John Deere Truss-Frame Plows.

John Deere Truss-Frame Plows stand the gaff because the shocks of hard work are distributed over the entire frame, instead of being concentrated on a single member. There are no curved beams . . . but instead straight frame bars, bottom standards, and cross-bracing . . . all heat-treated and rigidly eld together by heavy steel truss brackets.

There's greater clearance because Truss-Frame Design opens up the entire plow frame . . . to permit deep, steady, fast plowing in trashy fields where plows of less clearance would choke up repeatedly. Ease of adjustment, operation, and servicing are added "plus" values. See us for complete details.

Rufe's Ramblings

By RUFÉ PICKETT

She was a stranger in town, at least nobody in the crowd which had gathered to see the down train pull out had any recollection of ever having seen her before. But people that nobody around the depot knew often came and went and this lady didn't attract an undue amount of attention till they were rolling down the valley and Conductor Donnell came through taking up tickets. When she started telling him about having lost her purse all the other passengers in the car thought she was so hysterical that she didn't realize just what she was saying. That no doubt was partly due to the fact that few people in Mount Airy had ever before witnessed an occasion where any one person had supposedly handled as much money as she claimed. But after recovering the lost purse and spreading the contents on the seat—the return ticket to Boston together with the hundred dollars in bills just as she had described, seeing was believing.

Since this incident happened that morning way back yonder I have often thought how lucky the lady was that George Stuart, who was the news butcher on the train should find the purse which she evidently had dropped when she climbed out of the Sulphur Springs Hotel back. George is now the oldest conductor in point of seniority on the line from Greensboro to Mount Airy. He says that in all the years he has put in on the railroad he has never been without money in his pocket, and all because of his honesty on that occasion. Next time you see Conductor Stuart ask him to show you the reward the lady gave him. He has carried it so long that it is so slick and thin that it hardly looks like a dime any more.

Dedicated World's 1st 'Child Church' At Mooseheart

A beautiful 'Children's Cathedral,' believed to be the only religious edifice in the world built for the use of children primarily, was dedicated Sunday at the Loyal Order of Moose 'Child City' near Chicago.

A number of significant features have been incorporated in this monument of steel and stone which will be known as the Mooseheart, Ill. 'House of God', dedicated to the greatest of the Four Freedoms—Freedom of Worship—a church serving all faiths.

One of these is that it is the first church in the world, of a civilian nature, where all faiths may conduct services. Flanking the main auditorium, which will seat more than 700 worshippers, will be separate Roman Catholic and Protestant chapels, each complete in itself. The main church will be used for joint services as well as Jewish, Orthodox, Mormon and all other religions, represented as the 'Child City.'

Second, the Mooseheart 'House of God' will have the world's largest tubular carillon of 64 bells. This carillon is housed in a tower rising 110 feet into the air. It is so equipped as to be manually operated or it can be played from 'player piano rolls' automatically. Westminster chimes will peal out the quarter hours and the 'Angelus' will be played every evening at sunset.

The stained-glass windows of this unusual church are considered to be the world's finest. World-famous artists, including the celebrated Dutch master, Joep Nicolas co-operated in creating the colorful windows. The windows of the Catholic chapel depict the seven Sacraments while the Protestant chapel windows exemplify the eight Beatitudes. The windows of the main church tell the story of the Creation and other Biblical tales.

The 'House of God' also has one of the world's largest pipe organs in the main auditorium, and the latest type of electrical organs have been installed in the two chapels. A Mooseheart student, a 14-year old girl, has been studying under several outstanding organists in order to take over the duties of official 'House of God' organist.

The dedication attracted leading representatives of all religious faiths, some of which are: The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Nicholas Wegner, director of Father Flanagan's Boys Town; Frank Goldman, president of B'Nai Brith; and Dr. Daniel A. Polling, Editor of the Christian Herald, and chairman of the All-American Society to Combat Communism; as well as from civic, fraternal and political fields.

Funds for this 'House of God' were raised by popular subscription from among the nearly one million members of the Order, operators and founders of the world-famed city for children. Mooseheart is maintained for the care, education and spiritual training of dependent children of deceased members. Its population today numbers nearly 1,000 children, from babes in arms to young men and women about to graduate from high school.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Retailers depending on middle and lower income groups should brace themselves; prepare for the shock when proposed new income tax rates go into effect this fall. The burden falls on their customers.

Income tax increase on a married man with two children and an income of $3000 to $5000 will be 20.5%, but on a $40,000 income only 14%. The increase is lower as incomes go up.

Retailers should bear this in mind in planning fall inventories. If you sell yachts you probably won't see much change. If you sell beef, you will.

Even if prices go no higher, most families will have less to spend for essentials; little, if any, for luxuries.

The public statements of politicians are to the effect that excess purchasing power will be siphoned off.

Washington statisticians who follow the mounting cost of living say "What excess?" Proposed tax increases on business are just as unrealistic.

And still politics go on as usual. Congress plans to spend $44 million . . . $26 million for repackaging, $18 million for transportation to give away food stocks already bought and stored to keep prices up. This stock includes: butter 192,000,000 pounds; cheese 80,000,000 pounds; dried milk 332,000,000 pounds; dried eggs 107 million pounds.

©National Federation of Independent Business

Put it this way. If you have a wife and two children, an income of $5,000, all the income taxes paid by you this year, and by 96,915 other families in your same circumstances, will just pay for giving this food away to relief agencies.

One cynical observer in Washington last week remarked "We've advanced a long way from the old-fashioned socialist theories of taking from the 'haves' to give to the 'have-nots'."

"Now we take from the 'have-nots' to give to the 'have-nots'."

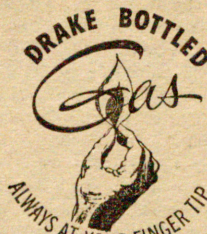

In fact, new business taxes will bear down heavy on small business—will not be too far away from World War II peak. On huge outfits, such as a motor company heading for an unprecedented billion dollar profit this year, the new taxes will be just slightly more than half World War II peak.

The most plausible reason given for this discrepancy in Washington is that with November just around the corner, no politician wants to offend the few big campaign fund contributors.

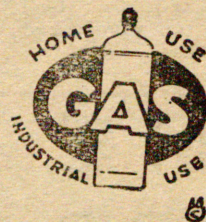

As predicted in this column, there is a concerted drive in Washington to amend the proposed Defense Production Act of 1950 to suspend all anti-trust laws.

Commerce Secretary Sawyer is for this move. Attorney General Howard McGrath says the purposes of the act can be accomplished without this. Next week this column will go into detail on this development.

Too Many Changes Menace Our Gov't. Says Supt. Nickell
"Too many Americans regard government as a goose that lays golden eggs. Too many Americans fail to realize that the goose has a voracious appetite for tax money but has added nine goose eggs to the national debt of two hundred and sixty-one billions of dollars," Vernon L. Nickell, state supt. of public instruction recently stated. He was speaking on the Wake Up America program arranged by Stretator lodge of Elks; one of a series of nation-wide Wake Up America programs sponsored by the National Service committee of the Elk fraternity.
In his remarks Nickell warned of any attempted changes in our way of government. "Up until the year 1917 there were only two types of government in the world. One type was the democracy, the other monarchies of varying modifications. Of the democracies, the United States was the outstanding example. From the time we set it up; from the time we adopted our constitution in 1789; we had been a model for the rest of mankind. For 128 years every change in government that had taken place anywhere had been a departure from monarchy or a limitation of it. But in 1917 the Russian Revolution spawned a cancer of communism that has grown into the Soviet Union that we know today; a cancer that is seeping its deadly danger around the world and into every government that has shown weakness or complacency."
Nickell went on, "Liberalism is nothing but an alibi for socialism and centralized power. The bait of man as his brother's keeper attracts many of our noblest spirits, but the poisonous hook lies hidden in man's power over his brother."
"We may be very sure," Nickell said, "that if America abandons liberty to follow the swamplights of either Fascism or collectivism out into the bogs of Communism. Future generations of Americans must climb slowly and painfully back out of that foul morass to fight again and to die to regain the liberties which this generation so thoughtlessly tossed away." Nickell concluded by saying, "And the challenge to you and the challenge to me, is that before we are Democrats, or Republicans, before we are any of the things that separate us, let us upon the altar of our country place a sacrifice and stop treating that altar as a crib out of which to feed."

MCCORMICK NO. 24 CORN PICKER
First things most farmers notice about the McCormick No. 24 2-row Corn Picker (for Farmalls H and M) are its trim design and low-cut appearance. First thing they usually say is "Must be a fast worker in the field." Right they are!
Yes, the No. 24 is really speedy in the cornfield. It picks up to 3 acres an hour. And it's been designed to cut mounting and dismounting time to the bone. Just 15 minutes for each. No lifting to attach or detach. Get full details on this stand-out among tractor-mounted, 2-row corn pickers from us now.

BETWEEN ROUNDS—U. S. Marines on the front lines in South Korea are shown taking time out between enemy assaults to catch up on badly-needed rest. Amid a weird setting of twisted trees, some chose to relax the last enemy assault while others were grateful to sprawl out on the hard forest floor. In the true tradition of the Marines, however, all keep their weapons close at hand.

LION AND BEAR HIPPOS MAKE SHEEP EYES—Berlin officials added several new wrinkles to the art of diplomacy when they permitted a Russian zone she-hippopotamus to visit a he-hippo in the British sector. After a polite get-acquainted period, authorities removed the bars between the two in the hopes that love might overcome the lingual barrier. It did. And now it is hoped that Soviet-owned "Olga" will present her two-and-a-half-ton British beau, "Knautschke," with a wee one.

Soil Building Job Should Be Put On Year-Round Basis

THERE is no "closed season" for applying soil building amounts of commercial fertilizer on the heavier soils, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in citing recent research by Dr. W. A. Albrecht, chairman of the soils department of the University of Missouri, and A. W. Klemme, extension soils specialist.

Soil building amounts of plant food can be added any time machinery can be driven over the fields, according to these soils research men. The fertilizer application need not be timed with crop planting. It can be put on well in advance, whenever the ground is firm and labor is available.

The research men report that on most clay or silt loam soils of Missouri, the clay fraction of the soil has a high capacity for holding fertilizer. Thus very little of any plant food materials will leach down through the soil. This is particularly true if there is some growing crop which will catch the plant nutrients applied in more soluble form.

However, fertilizer in the row is still needed by crops to give them the quick start and sturdy growth needed for top yields.

Soil tests indicate good results from putting mineral nutrients on the soil during the regular operations of preparing the seedbed for the next crop, the agronomists report.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR—

of labor for the kids when they just had to run straight from one class to another through the long corridors and perhaps from the basement to the fourth floor in the five minutes allotted to them but it took a Marathon runner to keep from getting nights for being late to class after having to change from their gym duds. And, by the way, do you know that daily gym classes have been made compulsory by this state?

Mentally? ... One of my daughters took biology, to my, perhaps, prejudiced mind one of the most interesting subjects offered by the high school curriculum. What became of the most important part of her course, the laboratory work with the microscope? During the whole year course she was privileged to see the wonders on the microscope slide just twice. Why? Because there were too many biology classes.

At some time or other thro' their high school work everyone of my children quoted their teachers as saying they could not do justice to their pupils because of the very large classes they had to teach.

Why would any parent want to add to Joliet's already overcrowded school when a move like that will work no good for the Joliet pupils or the outside youngsters going in?

Why not work for a high school of what is considered the ideal size, 500 to 600 pupils?

Sincerely yours,
A mother of six.

Aged Man Injured In Fall From Tree

Carley Gaddis, 79, of Orland Park suffered severe injuries about two weeks ago when he fell while trimming a tree in Palos Park. He slipped and fell about 30 feet striking his head on the ladder. He was removed to St. Francis hospital, Blue Island, where x-rays were taken. No bones were broken but he had a slight concussion and was badly bruised.

He was at home for a few days but was taken back to the hospital as Mrs. Gaddis, who is in frail health, is unable to care for him. His condition is now reported as somewhat improved.

Several years ago Mr. and Mrs. Gaddis made their home in Mokena and their son Robert, and his family live there now.

RICHARD LAMBRECHT WEDS—

from Northern Wisconsin. The same greenery was entwined about the tall candelabra and was tied with white satin bows in clusters at alternate pews. White chrysanthemums and daisies were arranged on the altar and the window ledges were filled with black-eyed susans. Approaching the altar on the arm of her father, Miss Whitburn wore a gown of white embroidered organdy over satin. The snug bodice featured a quaint collar and closed down the front with tiny buttons. The full skirt ended in a long train. A veil of illusion net was attached to a satin brim trimmed with seed pearls and for her jewelry she wore a gold cross worn by the maternal great great grandmother of the bridegroom. Ukranian lilies, pompons and daisies mingled with trailing ivy were arranged in a pendant bouquet suspended from her wrist.

Attending the bride were her sister, Miss Joyce Whitburn, and her college roommate, Miss Betty East both of Menomonee Falls. Their gowns of pale yellow marquisette over taffeta were accented with bouquets and headbands of bronze pompons and yellow daisies. Julie Rae Whitburn, eight-year old sister of the bride, costumed similarly in pale yellow organdy and carrying a basket of mums and daisies, served as junior bridesmaid.

Henry Heisner of Frankfort childhood friend of the bridegroom, acted as best man. He is a student at Northern Illinois State Teachers college.
